

Ipsos Book of Policies and Procedures

Section 1: Organization and Governance

1.8 Supplier Code of Conduct

Issue Date	September 2021
Document	1.8
Owner	Laurence Stoclet, Antoine Lagoutte, Renalda Harfouche
Document Review
Last Review Date	September 2021
Reviewed Version	1.0
Proposed Changes (Indicate chapter and short description of changes)	N/A; new policy
Review Committee	Global Ipsos Book of Policies and Procedures Team
Approval Authority/Committee	Laurence Stoclet
Next Review Due Date	To be reviewed in accordance with Ipsos' internal policies and/or industry requirements
Note: Records within this table will not generate a change in the version number.

1. Summary

Ipsos is committed to complying with all applicable laws, regulations, national and international conventions, and best practices with regards to ethics, social responsibility, and protection of the environment.

Ipsos expects its suppliers to comply with applicable laws and the ethical practices and principles that are contained in this Supplier Code of Conduct (this "Code"). Ipsos requires its suppliers to adhere to (1) this Code, (2) the principles stipulated in the Conventions of the International Labour Organization, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and the United Nations Global Compact, and (3) the Duty of Care obligations set out in the French Law N° 2017-339 as of today and as updated from time to time. Each supplier is also responsible for ensuring that its own, personnel, agents, subcontractors and consultants (collectively referred to as "Supplier(s)") do the same.

When national legislation or other applicable regulations address the same issue as this Code, the highest standards or most restrictive provisions shall apply.

Supplier acknowledges that the provisions of this Code are in addition to, and not in lieu of, the provisions of any legal agreement or contract between a Supplier and an Ipsos entity.

In the event that this Code is violated by a Supplier, Ipsos reserves the right to review the business relationship with such Supplier and possibly terminate such relationship, without prejudice to Ipsos' other rights and remedies. This is true even if there are no written arrangement or undertaking or contracts between Ipsos and the Supplier.

The agreements with the Supplier shall contain the required provisions to ensure that a Supplier complies with this Code.

- Supplier warrants and represents that Supplier and its Subcontractors will comply with the Ipsos Supplier Code of Conduct attached to the relevant agreement,
- Ipsos can terminate the agreement with Supplier in case of any breach of Supplier or its Subcontractors of Ipsos Supplier of Conduct.

If not, each Supplier should sign, date and acknowledge that Supplier had received, read, and agree to comply with, Ipsos' Supplier Code of Conduct.

2. Ipsos commitments to its suppliers

1. Ensure a fair selection

Ipsos will ensure fair competition and a fair selection process for Suppliers.

2. Guarantee of fair financial treatment

Ipsos pays its Suppliers in accordance with all legal obligations, and in compliance with any applicable rules and regulations.

3. Reduce the risk of mutual dependence

Ipsos seeks to avoid technical monopolies and to reduce the risk of mutual dependence in its relationships with its Suppliers. Accordingly, Ipsos makes every effort to diversify its sources of supply and require our Suppliers to commit to doing the same.

4. Adopt a common corporate social responsibility approach with supplier

Ipsos strongly prefers to work with Suppliers who have adopted a similar approach to Corporate Social Responsibility, particularly those who have taken concrete steps to reduce their environmental impact (consumption of water, energy, raw materials) and improve society (the working conditions of employees, diversity within their company, the consequences of their activity on society in general).

3. Commitments from Ipsos suppliers

1. Labor standards and social responsibility

Ipsos requires its Suppliers to exhibit exemplary social responsibility in their conduct:

- Prohibition of child labor: Work by children under the age of 16 is strictly prohibited, even if permitted by law. In countries where local laws set a higher minimum age for child labor, the higher age is applicable.
- Prohibition of forced labor: Any use of forced labor, slavery, servitude or trafficking in human beings by our Suppliers, as well as withholding identification documents or work permits, is strictly prohibited.
- Prohibition of illegal, clandestine and undeclared employment: Our Suppliers are required to comply with all applicable regulations to prevent illegal, clandestine and undeclared employment.
- Prohibition of harassment and abuse: We expect our Suppliers to treat their workers with respect and dignity.
- Prohibition of discrimination: We expect our Suppliers to treat all workers equally and fairly. Our Suppliers may not engage in any kind of discrimination – in particular, with regards to wages, hiring, access to training, promotion, maternity protection and dismissal – based on sex, race or ethnic origin, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation, political affiliation, union membership, nationality, gender identity or social background.
- Freedom of association: We require our Suppliers to respect and recognize the right of workers to negotiate collectively, and to create or join labor organizations of their choice, without any sanction, discrimination or harassment.
- Ensuring health and safety: Our Suppliers are expected to provide their workers with a safe and healthy workplace environment in order to avoid accidents or bodily injuries which may be caused by, related to, or result from their work, including during the operation of equipment or during work-related travel.

2. Environmental regulations and protection

Ipsos encourages concrete measures to protect the environment, including cooperation with its Suppliers to ensure application of best practices throughout the supply chain.

Ipsos encourages initiatives by its Suppliers to reduce their environmental impact, notably through the use of “green” technologies.

Ipsos requires its Suppliers to respect local and international environmental regulations and standards.

Ipsos' Suppliers are expected to make regular improvements in the environmental performance of their sites and production resources, in particular through proper waste management; elimination of air, water and soil pollution; reduction of greenhouse gas emissions with an emphasis on use of renewable energy, and a reduction of water and energy consumption.

3. Business integrity requirements

Ipsos requires its Suppliers to conduct their business activities with exemplary integrity:

- Legal requirements: We expect our Suppliers to conduct their business in full compliance with local, national and international laws.

- Prohibition of all forms of corruption: We expect our Suppliers to respect all applicable laws concerning corruption, extortion, and bribery and to take appropriate measures to prevent, detect and sanction the foregoing.
- Prevention of conflicts of interest: We require our Suppliers to comply with all applicable laws concerning conflicts of interest and to make every effort to prevent situations that may create a conflict or appearance of conflict of interest within the scope of their business relationship with Ipsos.
- Prohibition of money-laundering: Money-laundering can occur where an action is taken to mask the true origin of money or assets that are connected to criminal activity. We require our Suppliers to commit to taking all appropriate measures to prevent their operations from being used as vehicles for money-laundering.
- Respect of competition: Our Suppliers must comply with all applicable competition laws. This includes prohibiting abuse of a dominant market position, not engaging in concerted practices and not entering unlawful agreements with competitors.
- Protection of personal information: We require our Suppliers to comply with all applicable laws and regulations concerning the protection of personal information.

4. Business ethics requirements

- Gifts and invitations: Gifts or invitations may be considered acceptable expressions of courtesy within the context of good business relations if:
 - o Limited in scope and value;
 - o Given openly and transparently;
 - o Permitted under applicable local law;
 - o Customary in the location in which they would be given;
 - o Provided to reflect esteem or gratitude; and
 - o Not offered with an expectation that something will be offered in return.

In some cases, these practices might be subject to anticorruption regulations or other legal requirements, making it essential to be aware of such rules and to fully comply with them.

- Information transparency: Our Suppliers are required to provide clear and accurate information regarding the methods and resources used, production sites and characteristics of the products or services supplied, and to refrain from making any misleading claims.

5. Inspection and Audit

- Inspection: We reserve the right to confirm compliance with these principles and to conduct compliance audits, whether in-person or virtual, of our Suppliers. Our Suppliers must provide all necessary information and facilitate access by representatives of Ipsos seeking to verify compliance with the requirements of this Code. Suppliers must commit to promptly improving or correcting, at its own costs, any deficiencies identified during an audit.
- Accurate books and records and access to information: Our Suppliers are required to keep proper accurate and transparent books and records to demonstrate compliance with this Code. They must provide our representatives with access to these books and records.

6. Reporting and non-compliance with this code

Suppliers are responsible for prompt reporting of actual or suspected violations of applicable law and this Code. This includes violations by any worker or agent or subcontractor acting on behalf of the Supplier. Supplier may report a violation via e-mail using the following address: patrice.bergen@ipsos.com and ewa.brandt@ipsos.com.

A Supplier's failure to comply with or rectify (within the time period specified by Ipsos), any provision of this Code may result in the termination of any contracts or relationships with such Supplier.

If a Supplier is unable to meet any of this Code's requirements, it should immediately notify Ipsos and submit a corrective action plan to correct the identified deficiencies. Ipsos reserves the right to accept or reject this action plan based upon the appropriateness of the measures and compliance deadlines proposed by the Supplier.

SIGNATURES:

By signing below, you acknowledge that you have received, read, and agree to comply with, Ipsos' Supplier Code of Conduct.

Date:

Name and address of Supplier:

Name and position of Supplier representative:

Signature:

Chop (if applicable):