

Knowledgepanel® Omnibus

KnowledgePanel is...

The oldest and largest probability-based online panel in the U.S.

Known for its accuracy and high quality sampling methods.

A panel with exceptional survey completion rates.

Built on a foundation of address-based sampling (ABS).

Provides a statistically valid representation of the U.S. population.

An Omnibus is...

A fast and cost-effective research solution to gauge the opinions and thoughts of the general population.

A shared quantitative research vehicle that combines proprietary survey-questions on various topics from numerous clients into one master survey where each client will receive data for their own proprietary questions + demographic data.

KnowledgePanel Omnibus is...

A scientifically designed online research platform that allows organizations to measure public opinion on various topics in a fast and cost-effective way while keeping the quality and reliability of data as a priority.

Ipsos has a full range of KnowledgePanel solutions—see the comparison chart below for more details!

Excellent solution to:

- Checking incidence rates and testing questionnaire wording
- Gauge public opinion on current events, policy and social issues
 - Gather supporting data for public, media and press release initiatives
- Track consumer perspective and habits about brands, products, and services
- Measure attitudes about new launches and advertising campaigns

What makes KnowledgePanel different?

KnowledgePanel (KP) differs from opt-in online panels:

1 PROBABILITY BASED RECRUITMENT

We use ABS (address-based sampling) as the primary methodology—a probability-based approach that includes cell phone-only households.

2 COVERAGE OF NON-INTERNET HOUSEHOLDS

We provide internet access and a tablet for the completion of online surveys: Therefore, the sample is not limited to only those who already have internet access.

3 COVERAGE OF THE UNITED STATES POPULATION

It is representative of U.S. adults, including hard-to-reach groups such as young adults, males and minorities.

4 REPUTATION

The original, largest and most well-established probability-recruited online panel with a demonstrated track record for publication, federal, and academic review.
