

Ipsos April 2022 Political Monitor Topline Results

April 2022

Fieldwork: 20th – 28th April 2022

Technical Details

Ipsos interviewed a representative sample of 1006 adults aged 18+ across Great Britain. Interviews were conducted by telephone: 20th – 28th April 2022. Data are weighted to match the profile of the population.

Where percentages do not sum to 100 this may be due to computer rounding, the exclusion of “don’t know” categories, or multiple answers. An asterisk (*) denotes any value of less than half a per cent. Data are based on all adults unless otherwise stated

Voting Intention

Voting intention polls between elections are a measurement of how a representative sample of the public think they would vote at a given point in time. Voting intentions should be read in conjunction with other political indicators.

Voting intentions: headline indicator

Our headline indicator takes into account past voting behaviour (do people always or usually vote in general elections, or say it depends) as well as stated likelihood to vote in an upcoming election (those who say they are at least 9 out of 10 certain to vote). We continually review our methods, and may make further refinements to our methodology in the future.

As previously, please note that this measure is not based on the assumption that this is the group who will vote at the next general election, as this population is not accurately identifiable at this stage of a parliament. Rather, it includes only those voters whose past behaviour and frame of mind is nearest to those who actually vote at elections.

All polls are subject to a wide range of potential sources of error. On the basis of the historical record of the polls at recent general elections, there is a 9 in 10 chance that the true value of a party’s support lies within 4 points of the estimates provided by this poll, and a 2 in 3 chance that they lie within 2 points. This is especially important to keep in mind when calculating party lead figures.

Q1 How would you vote if there were a General Election tomorrow?

Voting intentions: all naming a party

The voting intention figures based on all those giving a voting intention is the measure with the longest pedigree; our regular trends on this basis go back to the 1970s. When turnouts were much higher than is usual today, this offered a good approximation to actual voting behaviour; in more recent years however, there have been differing turnout levels among the supporters of the various parties.

Local elections

As you may know, local elections are taking place in some parts of the United Kingdom on Thursday 5th May, 2022. I would like you to think about how you will decide to vote in these elections, or about how you would decide to vote if there are no elections in your area.

Q14. Which, if any, of the following, would be very important to you when deciding who to vote for in local elections on the 5th May?

	%
What local political parties are promising to do in your area e.g. housing, local transport, bin collections, planning and other issues of local significance	55
How well the local council has run your area over the past few years	55
Party policies on national issues e.g. the economy, NHS, immigration, climate and other issues of national significance	51
How well the UK Government has run the country over the past few years	46
What you think about candidates standing in local elections in my area	46
What you think about national leaders such as Boris Johnson, Keir Starmer [IF WALES] Mark Drakeford [IF SCOTLAND] Nicola Sturgeon and others	36
Other	1
I don't vote in local elections	4
None of these	3
Don't know	5

Q15 And still thinking about how you will decide to vote in the local elections, or about how you would decide to vote if there are no elections in your area.
