TOPLINE AND METHODOLOGY

About the Study

This Ipsos poll was conducted using the KnowledgePanel®. This poll is based on a sample of general population Americans and jurors. The poll among jurors consisted of 781 adults 18 years and over who have served on jury for either civil or criminal trials in the last ten years in the United States who were interviewed between July 7-18, 2023. The poll among the general population consisted of 1,017 U.S. residents, age 18 or older who were interviewed between July 7-17, 2023.

The study was conducted in English and Spanish. The data were weighted to adjust for gender by age, race/ethnicity, education, Census region, metropolitan status, household income and race/ethnicity. The data for the Jurors sample were weighted to adjust for gender by age, race/ethnicity, education, Census region, metropolitan status, and household income. The demographic benchmarks came from the KnowledgePanel® profile data. The weighting categories were as follows:

- Gender (Male, Female) by Age (18–29, 30–44, 45-59 and 60+)
- Race/Hispanic Ethnicity (White Non-Hispanic, Black Non-Hispanic, Other, Non-Hispanic, Hispanic, 2+ Races, Non-Hispanic)
- Education (Less than High School, High School, Some College, Bachelor or higher)
- Census Region (Northeast, Midwest, South, West)
- Metropolitan status (Metro, non-Metro)
- Household Income (Under $25,000, $25,000-$49,999, $50,000-$74,999, $75,000-$99,999, $100,000-$149,999, $150,000+)

The margin of sampling error is plus or minus 3.2 percentage points for both general population Americans and jurors at the 95% confidence level, for results based on the entire sample of adults. The margin of error takes into account the design effect, which was 1.3 for all jurors and 1.07 for all general population adults. In our reporting of the findings, percentage points are rounded off to the nearest whole number. As a result, percentages in a given table column may total slightly higher or lower than 100%. In questions that permit multiple responses, columns may total substantially more than 100%, depending on the number of different responses offered by each respondent.
