

CONSERVATIVES OPEN 9-POINT LEAD OVER LIBERALS

Supply and Confidence Arrangement between Liberals and NDP isn't Helping Either Party

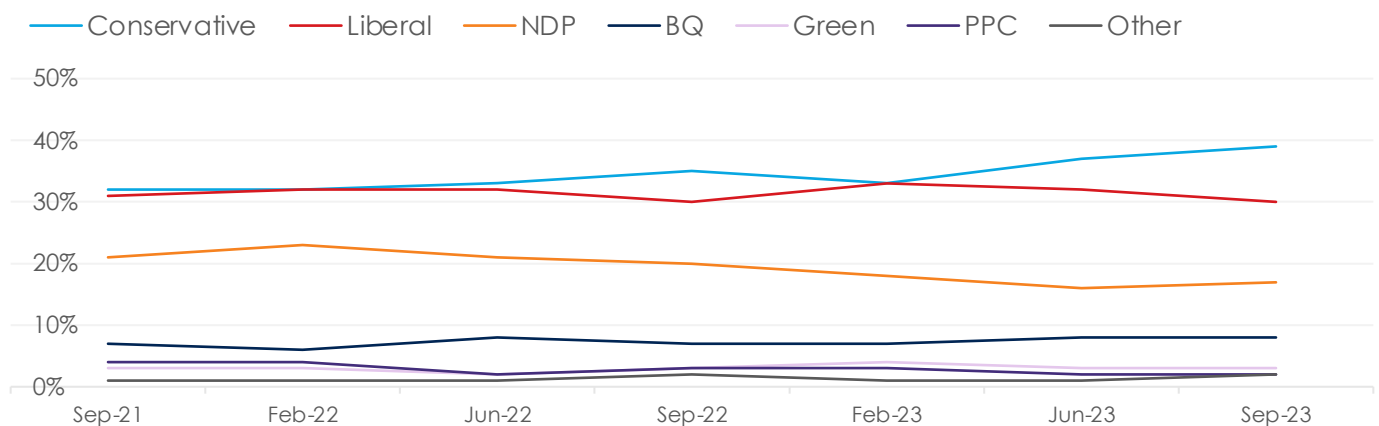

FEDERAL VOTE

(DECIDED VOTERS, LEANERS INCLUDED)

Sep 21, 2023 – Since June, the Conservatives have opened a 9-point lead over the listless Liberals. The NDP is failing to benefit from its supply and confidence agreement with the Liberals. The Conservatives are leading among every age group, including 18-34-year-olds, as well as among women, which have traditionally been core constituencies for the Trudeau Liberals. The Bloc has an 11-point lead over the Liberals in Quebec. The key battleground remains Ontario, where the Liberals and the Conservatives are tied at 39% of the popular vote – 23 points ahead of the NDP.

Despite the challenging vote figures for the Liberals, 43% of Canadians approve of the job that Justin Trudeau and the Liberal government have done. However, this approval does not seem to be translating into electoral support. Only one in three (34%) Canadians believes the Trudeau government deserves to be re-elected, while two in three (66%) believe it's time for another party to take over.

ABOUT THIS MEDIA RELEASE

ABOUT THE STUDY

These are some of the findings of an Ipsos poll conducted between September 15th to 18th, 2023, on behalf of Global News. For this survey, a sample of 1,500 Canadians aged 18+ was interviewed online. Quotas and weighting were employed to ensure that the sample's composition reflects that of the Canadian population according to census parameters. The precision of Ipsos online polls is measured using a credibility interval. In this case, the poll is accurate to within ± 2.9 percentage points, 19 times out of 20, had all Canadians aged 18+ been polled. The credibility interval will be wider among subsets of the population. All sample surveys and polls may be subject to other sources of error, including, but not limited to coverage error, and measurement error.
