PUBLIC POLL FINDINGS AND METHODOLOGY

About the Study

These are the findings of an Ipsos poll conducted on behalf of Sallie Mae between June 2 and June 26, 2023. For this survey, a sample of 1,029 current college students ages 18-30 and 427 adults who started but did not complete college ages 18-30 from the continental U.S., Alaska, and Hawaii were interviewed online in English.

The sample was randomly drawn from The Generation Lab Student Panel and General Youth Panel. and does not rely on a population frame in the traditional sense. The Student panel includes students from across the country, including those attending community colleges, HBCUs, and women-only colleges. The General youth panel is recruited to closely resemble a probability-based sample through academically-guided, advertisement-based, geographic recruitment with quota sampling. After a sample has been obtained, Ipsos calibrates respondent characteristics to be representative of the U.S. Population for college students and adults who have not completed college using standard procedures such as raking-ratio adjustments. The source of these population targets is U.S. Census 2021 American Community Survey data. The sample drawn for this study reflects fixed sample targets on demographics. Post-hoc weights were made to the population characteristics on gender, race/ethnicity, and type of educational institution.

Statistical margins of error are not applicable to online non-probability polls. All sample surveys and polls may be subject to other sources of error, including, but not limited to coverage error and measurement error. Where figures do not sum to 100, this is due to the effects of rounding. The precision of Ipsos online polls is measured using a credibility interval. In this case, the poll has a credibility interval of plus or minus 3.1 percentage points for all respondents. Ipsos calculates a design effect (DEFF) for each study based on the variation of the weights, following the formula of Kish (1965). This study had a credibility interval adjusted for design effect of the following (n=1,456, DEFF=1.5, adjusted Confidence Interval=+/- 4.6 percentage points).
