Total MPs vative Labour Lib Dem
This topline document presents the findings of the Winter 2014 study of Britain's Members of Parliament, part of Ipsos MORI's programme of regular multi-sponsored studies among key audiences. Methodology details:

- Fieldwork dates: 4 November 19 December 2014.
 103 MPs were interviewed (45 Conservatives, 45 Labour, 11 Liberal Democrats and 2 from other parties).
 An initial sample of 343 MPs were contacted to ensure that those interviewed closely represent the profile of the House of Commons.
- Interviews were conducted face-to-face.
- The total sample interviewed is closely representative of the House. Based on those asked each question, data have been
- individually weighted where necessary to reflect the true balance by party and ministerial or spokesperson position.

 Sometimes the percentage result for "Total MPs" may be greater than the sum of the percentage results for Conservative, Labour and Liberal Democrat MPs, as it also notudes results from other parties. Where results do not sum to 100%, this may be Labour and Liberal Democrat MPs, as it also ncludes results from other parties. Where results do not sum to 100%, this may be due to computer rounding, multiple responses, or the exclusion of "don't know" categories.
