

Version 1 | Public

Great Britain: Attitudes to Interchange Fees

June 2014

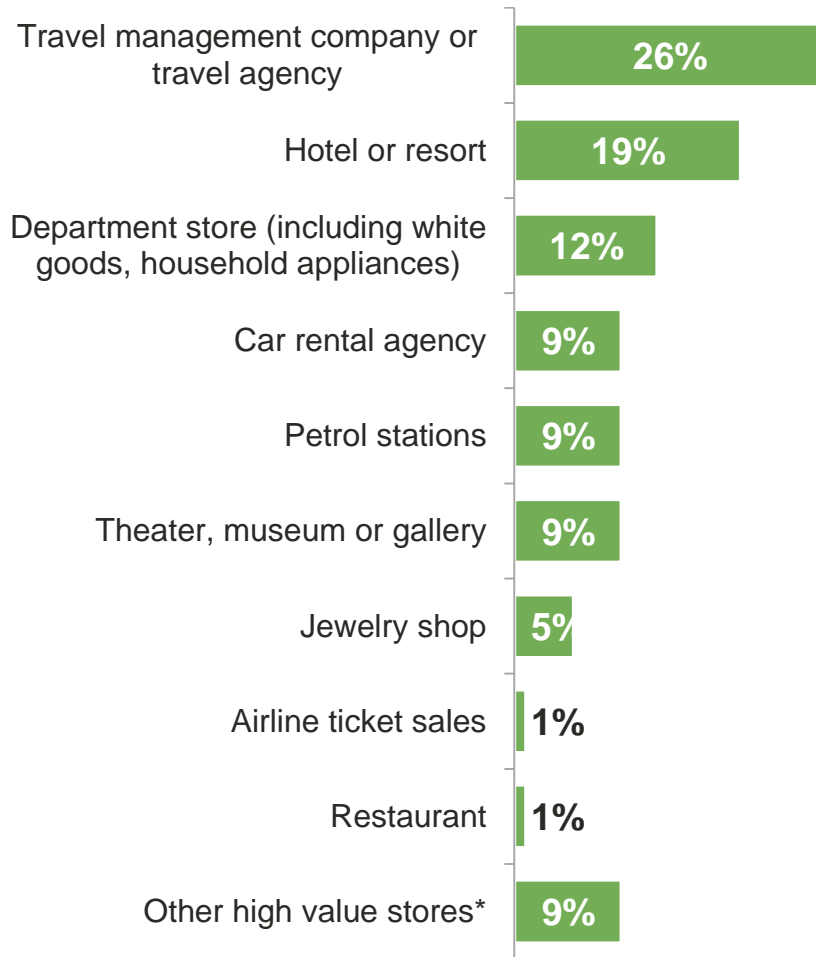

- These are findings of research conducted by international research company Ipsos MORI on behalf of MasterCard Worldwide. The research was conducted via telephone among “high value retailers”.
- High value retailers are defined as:
 - Decision makers regarding payment card transactions
 - Working within a retail sector related to travel, entertainment or luxury goods such as airline ticket sales, car rental agency, hotel/resort, travel management company/travel agency, petrol stations, restaurant, theater, museum/gallery, jewelry shop, department store and other high value stores
 - Have high value single transactions made frequently in branch via payment cards
- The field dates and sample sizes in each country are below:

Country	Field Start	Field Close	Sample size
Great Britain	15-Apr	7-May	151
France	15-Apr	9-May	150
Spain	15-Apr	1-May	150
Germany	15-Apr	5-May	150
Italy	15-Apr	5-May	150
Poland	15-Apr	9-May	150

Profile of high value retailers

Q1. First, just to double check, which of the following, if any, best describes your business?

This includes:

- Electronic stores (e.g. audio-visual, hi-fi, televisions, computers, etc.)
- Cosmetics (including perfume shops)
- Clothing boutiques
- Leather goods stores (including shoe shops)
- Any other luxury goods or services

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Average transaction

Q2. Thinking about transactions paid for on a payment card, what is the average amount spent by the typical customer within your business in a single transaction? / Q2a. Thinking about the covers you have in your restaurant, what is the average bill per person?

Average amount spent on a payment card:
£100

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Familiarity with retail transactions

Q3. How familiar are you with the day to day retail transactions for your business?/Q4. And, are payments made frequently via payment cards?

How familiar are you with the day to day retail transactions for your business?

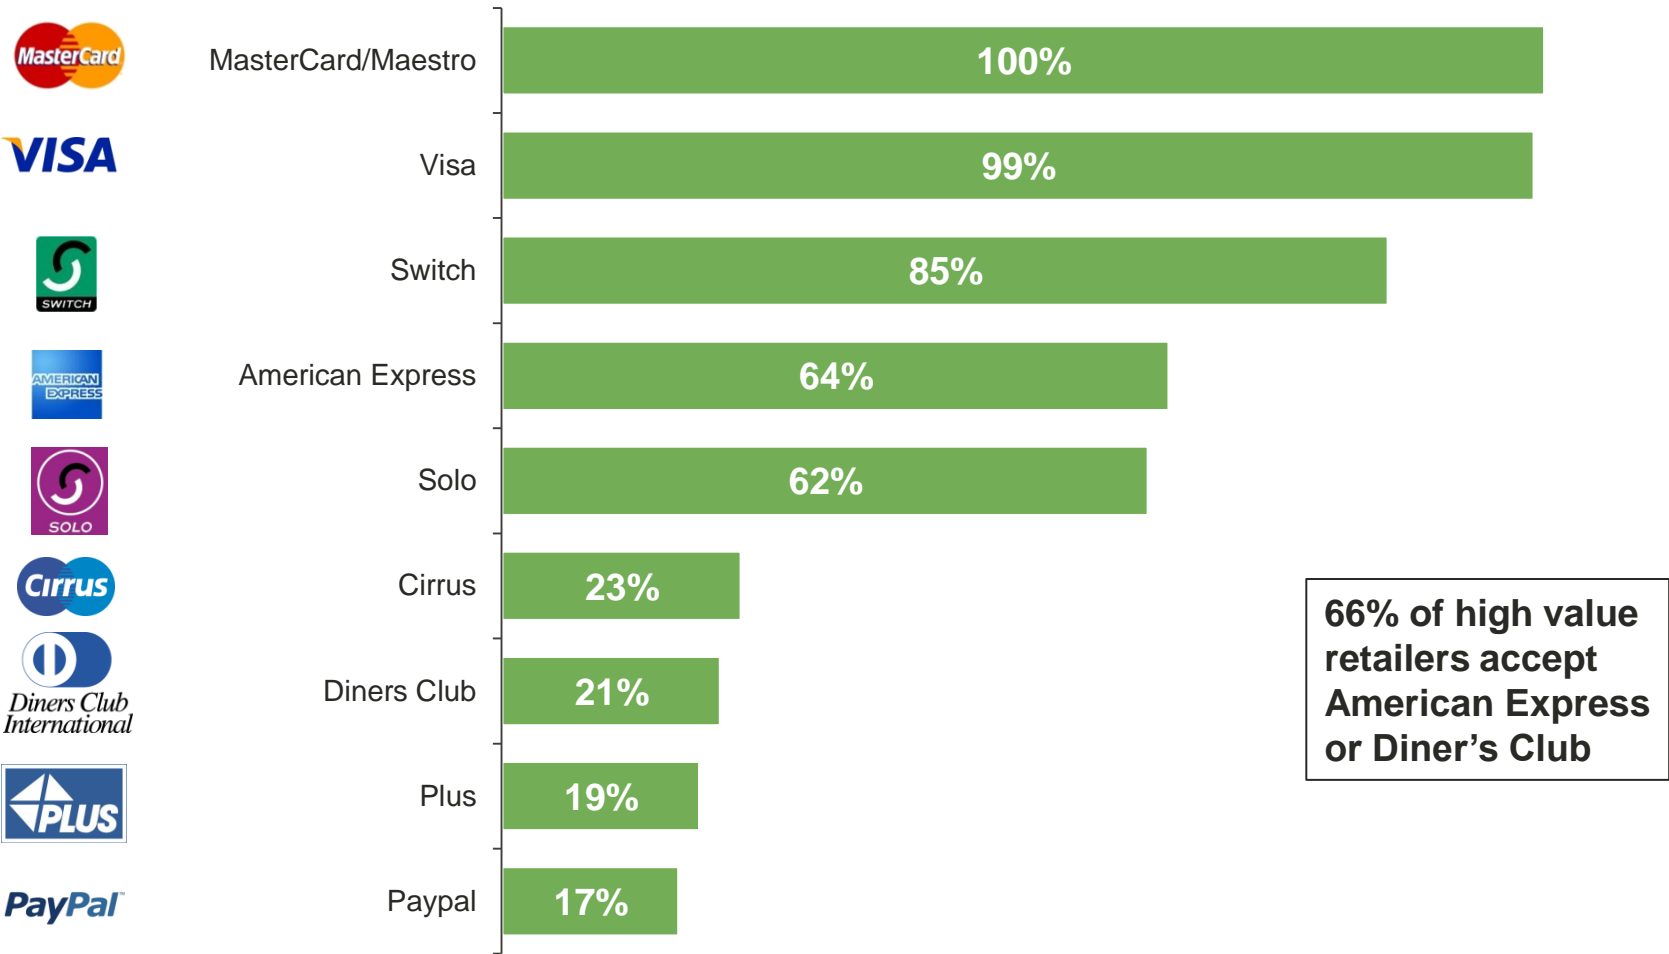

Are payments made frequently via payment cards?

Accepted payment cards

Q5. Which of the following brands of payment cards or payment types, if any, does your business currently accept?

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Knowledge of interchange fees

Q6. Thinking about when a card transaction is made within your business, how much do you feel you know about the different fees charged for different payment methods?

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

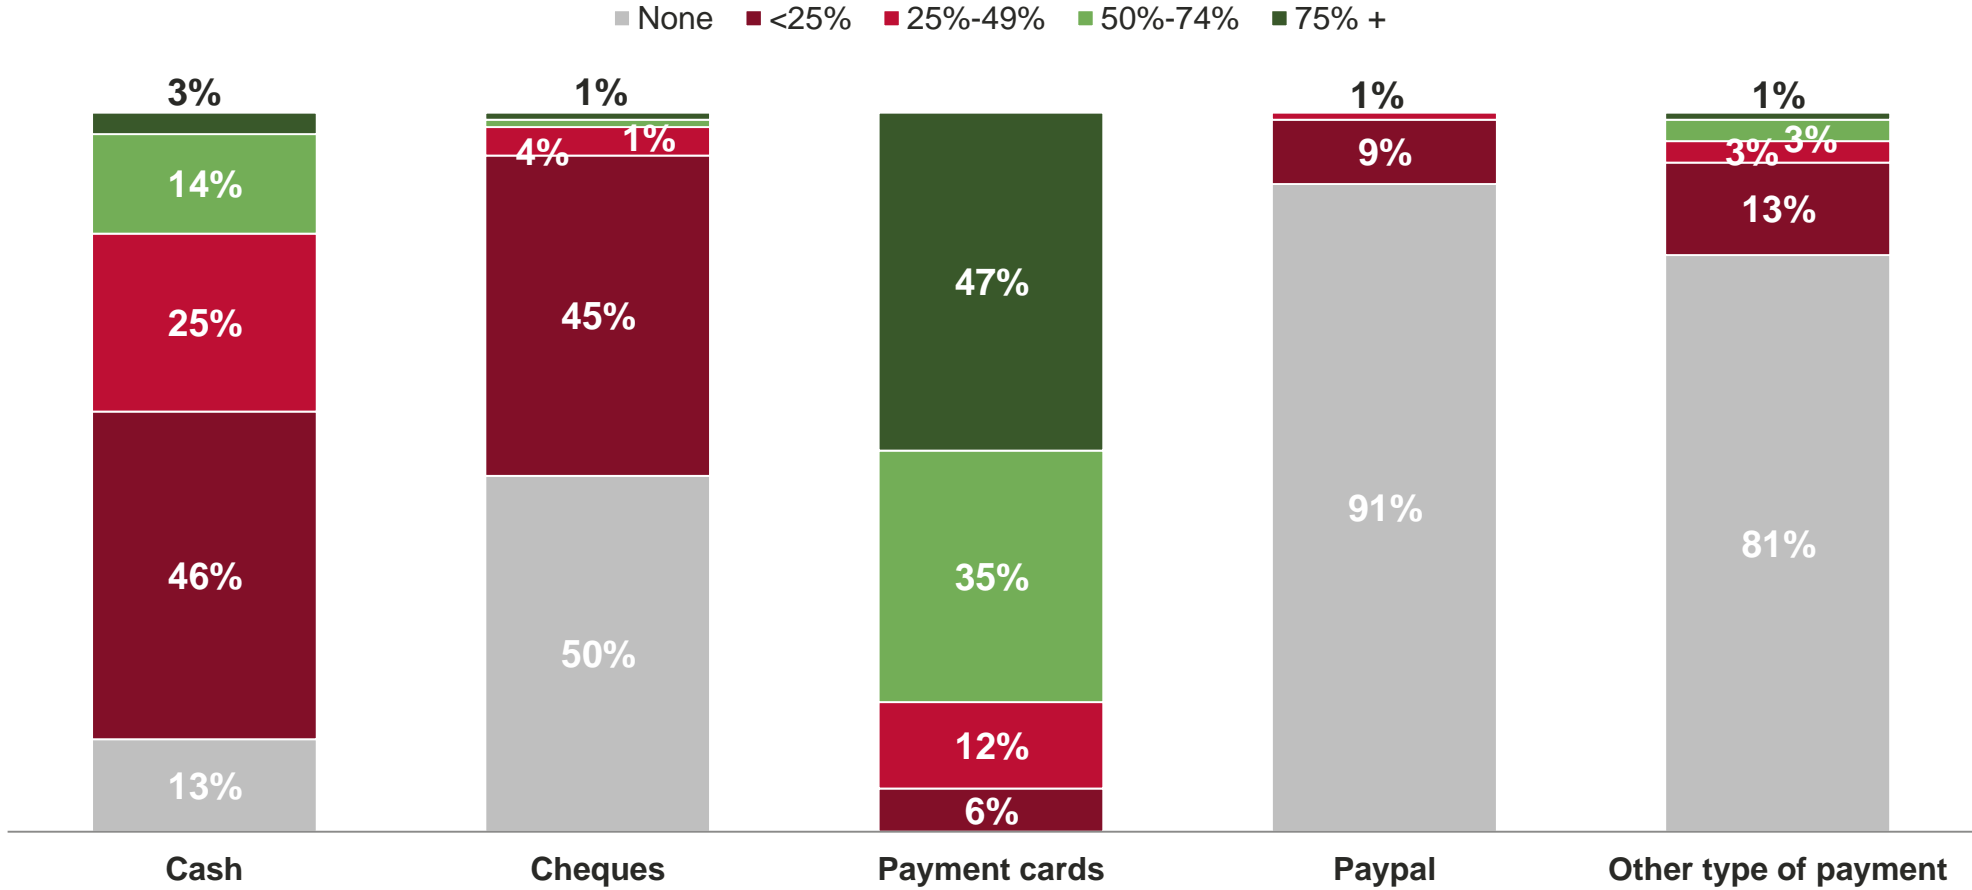

Payment methods

Proportion of sales transactions by type of payment

Q7. What percentage of your average number of sales transactions would you estimate are paid for by each of the following payment methods?

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Proportion of sales transactions by type of payment

Q7. What percentage of your average number of sales transactions would you estimate are paid for by each of the following payment methods?

Proportion of sales transactions by brand of payment cards

Q7a. And, in an average month, what proportion of card transactions would you estimate are paid for by each of the following card brands?

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Proportion of sales transactions by brand of payment cards

Q7a. And, in an average month, what proportion of card transactions would you estimate are paid for by each of the following card brands?

Base: 151 high value retailers

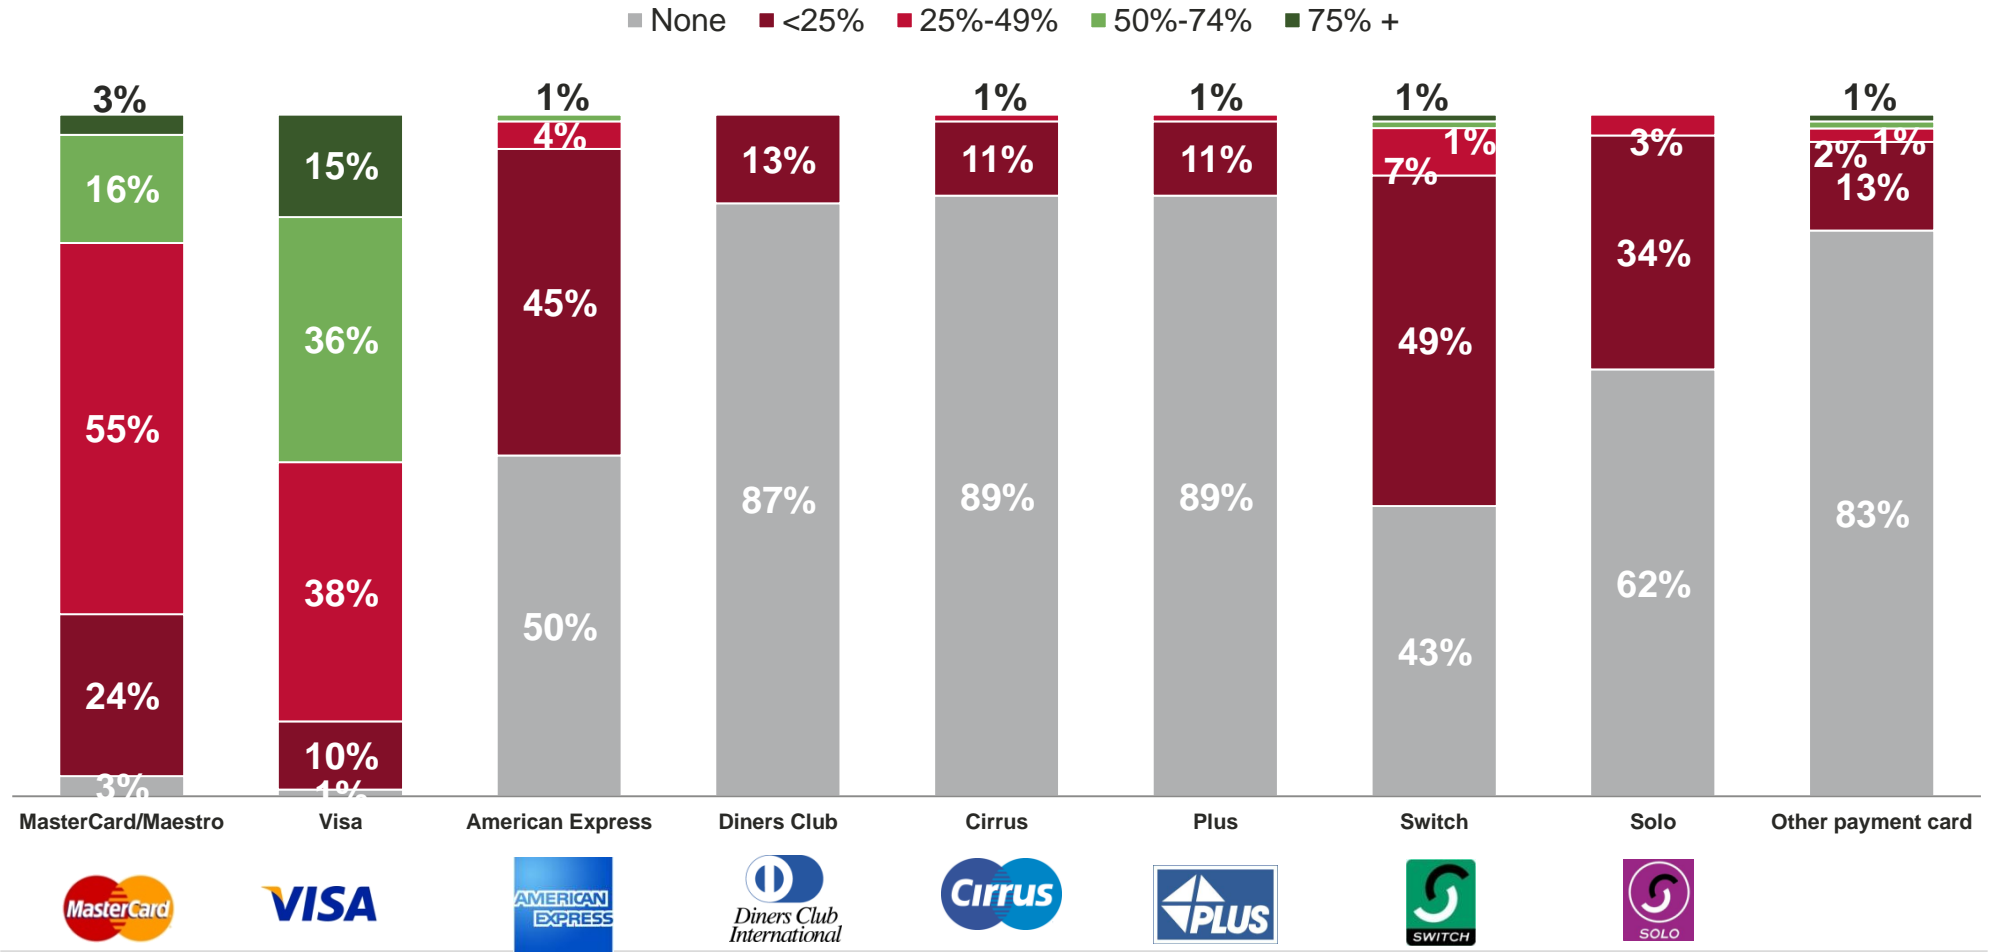

Source: Ipsos MORI

Proportion of sales transaction by amount paid

Q8. What proportion of that total amount is paid for by each of the following payment card types?

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Proportion of sales transaction by amount paid

Q8. What proportion of that total amount is paid for by each of the following payment card types?

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Attitudes to interchange fees

AS READ OUT BY INTERVIEWER:

As you may be aware, there is a cost to the retailer for all payment types that are made whether they are cash, payment cards or cheques.

And, when a retailer decides they want to offer customers the ability to pay with credit, debit or pre-paid cards, they negotiate an agreement with a bank to process those payments via a secure network for a fee known as an interchange fee.

Interchange helps pay for the secure network, fraud protection, purchase guarantees, value retailers receive from accepting cards, ongoing innovations and customer service.

The companies that develop and maintain the technology of the networks set the default interchange rates for using their systems.

Interchange fee rating by payment card

Q9. Thinking specifically about the fee charged on card payment transactions, how would you rate the fees associated with using each of the following card payment types?

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Satisfaction with support from payment card brands

Q10. Currently, how satisfied or dissatisfied are you overall with the processes and support (such as call center support, problem resolution, and settlement terms) associated with accepting each of the following payment card types?

Base: All accept American Express (97) MasterCard (151) or Visa (150)

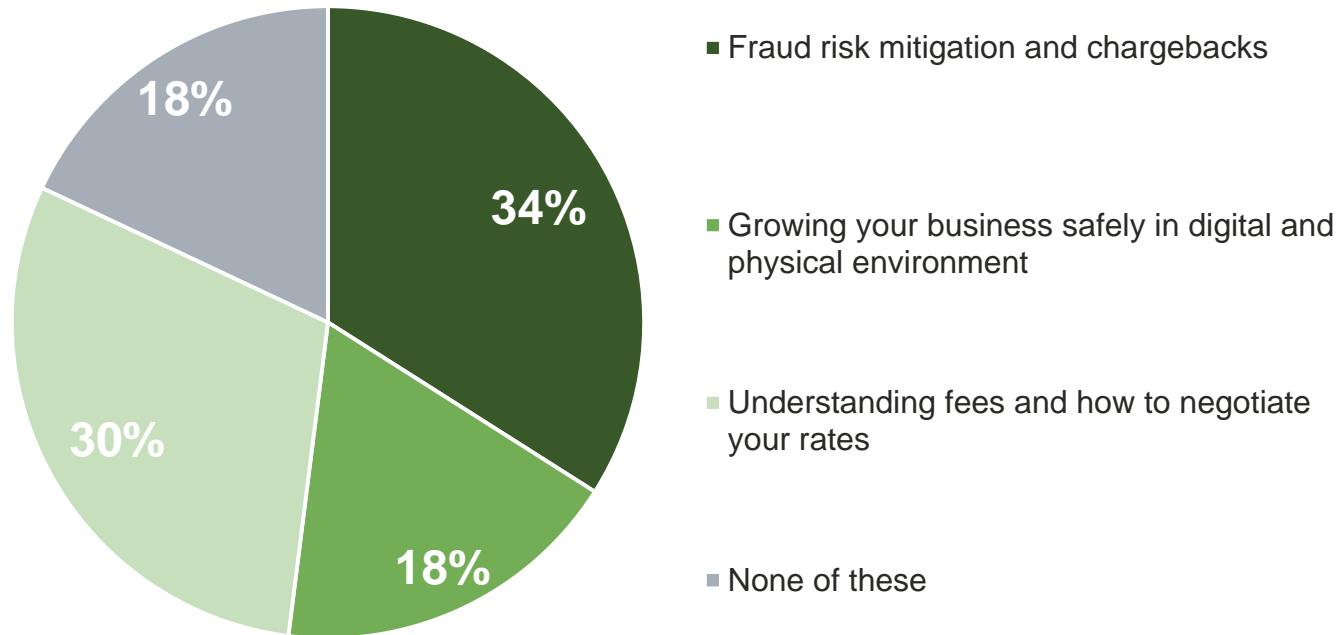

Source: Ipsos MORI

Preferred types of training from payment card brands

Q10a. Which ONE of the following types of training would be most helpful to you in understanding and enhancing the processes associated with debit or credit cards?

Attitudes to proposed EC legislation

Impact of potential cost savings for retailers

Q11. If the costs of accepting payment cards were reduced as a result of this cap, what would your business do with the money saved?

AS READ OUT BY INTERVIEWER:

The European Commission is considering a proposal to cap the interchange fee charged to retailers for payment cards which would include debit or credit card transactions anywhere in the EU.

- I would use the saved money to invest into/innovate my company
- I would use the saved money to reduce the retail prices for my customers
- I would use the saved money to increase my revenue
- Don't know

Level of support for the proposed legislation

Q12. Which of the following best describes your reaction to this proposed legislation?

AS READ OUT BY INTERVIEWER:

The current version of the EC proposal to cap the interchange fee charged to retailers for the use of credit cards will only be applied to Visa and MasterCard and not to American Express or Diners' Club cards.

The rationale given for this is that American Express and Diners' Club cards are not considered to be relevant in terms of market size and cost to retailers.

- I would not support any type of EU legislation to regulate the cost of credit card acceptance
- I support EU legislation to regulate costs of credit card acceptance that excludes specific card brands such as American Express and Diners' Cards
- I support EU legislation to regulate costs of credit card acceptance only if it covers all credit card payments, including American Express and Diners' cards
- Don't know/no opinion

Changes to acceptance of payment cards

Q13. Knowing that the cost to the business varies depending on the payment methods the business accepts, and knowing that there might be caps on costs for some payment cards and not others would you:

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Attitudes towards capping fees

Q14. Which of the following best describes your point of view regarding capping or setting limits on interchange rates?

Base: 151 high value retailers

Source: Ipsos MORI

Version 1 | Public

Thank you

Matt.Williams@ipsos.com | 020 7347 3320

Ilana.Tyler-Rubinstein@ipsos.com | 020 7347 3216

Ipsos MORI
Reputation Centre

© Ipsos MORI This work was carried out in accordance with the requirements of the international quality standard for market research, ISO 20252:2006 and with the Ipsos MORI Terms and Conditions which can be found here

- Ipsos is an independent market research company controlled and managed by research professionals. Founded in France in 1975, Ipsos has grown into a worldwide research group with a strong presence in all key markets. In October 2011 Ipsos completed the acquisition of Synovate. The combination forms the world's third largest market research company.
- With offices in 85 countries, Ipsos delivers insightful expertise across six research specializations: advertising, customer loyalty, marketing, media, public affairs research, and survey management.
- Ipsos researchers assess market potential and interpret market trends. They develop and build brands. They help clients build long-term relationships with their customers. They test advertising and study audience responses to various media and they measure public opinion around the globe.
- Ipsos has been listed on the Paris Stock Exchange since 1999 and generated global revenues of €1,789 billion (2.300 billion USD) in 2012.
- Visit www.ipsos.com to learn more about Ipsos' offerings and capabilities.