

Ipsos Poll Conducted for Reuters

Daily Election Tracking: 10.15.12

These are findings from an Ipsos poll conducted for Thomson Reuters from Oct. 11-15, 2012. For the survey, a sample of 2,106 American registered voters and 1,864 Likely Voters (all age 18 and over) was interviewed online. Likely voter model adjusted to include all respondents who have voted, as of 10/15/12. The precision of the Reuters/Ipsos online polls is measured using a credibility interval. In this case, the poll has a credibility interval of plus or minus 2.4 percentage points for Registered Voters and 2.6 for Likely Voters. For more information about credibility intervals, please see the appendix.

The data were weighted to the U.S. current population data by gender, age, education, and ethnicity. Statistical margins of error are not applicable to online polls. All sample surveys and polls may be subject to other sources of error, including, but not limited to coverage error and measurement error. Figures marked by an asterisk (*) indicate a percentage value of greater than zero but less than one half of a percent. Where figures do not sum to 100, this is due to the effects of rounding.
