

These are findings from an Ipsos poll conducted from June 30th – July 3rd, 2015. For the survey, a sample of 1,001 Greeks age 18+ were interviewed by landline and mobile telephone. The margin of error on the poll is +/- 3.1%.

The sample is collected to be representative of Greek population in terms of age, gender and region. Data is weighted to reflect the results of the Jan 2015 Parliamentary election. Figures marked by an asterisk (*) indicate a percentage value of greater than zero but less than one half of one per cent. Where figures do not sum to 100, this is due to the effects of rounding.

CONTEXTUAL OVERVIEW

- A referendum has been called in Greece for July 5th, 2015
- As of July 2nd, Prime Minister Tsipras is advocating for a 'NO' vote, on the grounds that the offer is not good enough and that a 'NO' will give him more negotiating power with the EU
- The 'YES' campaign believes that failing to accept the offer will mean Grexit (Greek exiting Eurozone)
- The mood in Greece and the very limited access to bank funds (max E60/day withdrawn) means that the population, which supports Greece remaining in the Euro, is very nervous about Grexit
- Tsipras has a key speech planned for Saturday, July 4th, to address the people about the upcoming referendum;
- Polling over the past week suggests that while 'NO' had the initial momentum, 'YES' has catch up.

ECONOMIC SITUATION

Q1. About the economic situation of your household you would say you are... READ SCALE

Very satisfied	3%
Rather satisfied	15%
Neither satisfied nor dissatisfied	25%
Rather dissatisfied	25%
Very dissatisfied	32%

ATTITUDES TOWARD EU / EURO

Q2. To what extent do you agree with the phrase 'Greece should definitely stay in the EU'... READ SCALE

Totally agree	55%
Rather agree	13%
Neither agree nor disagree	11%
Rather disagree	7%
Totally disagree	13%

Q3. To what extent do you agree with the phrase 'Greece should definitely stay in the Eurozone'... READ SCALE

Totally agree	58%
Rather agree	13%
Neither agree nor disagree	10%
Rather disagree	7%
Totally disagree	11%

THE REFERENDUM

Q4. As relates to the referendum taking place next Sunday July 5th, would you say you are... READ SCALE

Very well-informed	40%
Rather well-informed	27%
Not sure	16%
Rather not well-informed	6%
Very not well-informed	11%

Q5. And as relates to the referendum, would you say you are... READ SCALE

Very interested	70%
Rather interested	13%
Not sure / Neutral	7%
Rather not interested	3%
Not interested at all	7%

Q6. Which of the following best describes your intention to vote on the referendum of Sunday July 5th?

I will certainly vote	86%
I will probably vote	6%
Not sure	3%
I will probably not vote	1%
I will certainly not vote	4%

Q7. And how are you going to vote on the referendum's question? DO NOT READ OUT

BASE: All except those who will 'certainly not vote' in the referendum on July 5th

Yes	44%
No	43%
Blank	1%
Don't know	12%

Q6. And would you say that till Sunday.... READ SCALE

I will certainly not change my mind	72%
I will probably not change my mind	10%
I might change my mind	9%
I am not sure	5%

THE REFERENDUM, CONTINUED

Q9. Regardless of your own personal opinion, do you believe that the YES or the NO will win the referendum?

Yes	45%
No	33%
DK	21%
DA	2%

Q5. And as relates to the referendum, would you say you are... READ SCALE

	Very much	Rather	Rather not	Not at all	DA
In case the YES wins do you worry about the implementation of the politics requested by the partner creditors...	55%	25%	9%	9%	3%
In case the NO wins do you worry about the uncertainty of Greece remaining in the Eurozone...	49%	16%	10%	22%	2%

PRIME MINISTER TSIPRAS

Q6. About the work of the Greek PM, Alexis Tsipras, during the last 5 months you would say you...

Totally support it	21%
Rather support it	24%
Not sure / Neutral	18%
Rather not support it	9%
Totally not support it	27%