

As you may know, the Canadian government recently announced an investigation into the treatment of Mr. Maher Arar [MAHAR ARAAR], a Canadian citizen who was changing planes in the United States and was seized and sent by the United States to Syria and not back to Canada where he lived because they suspected him of potential terrorist links. Now, based on what you've seen, read or heard, do you think that the United States was justified in deporting him to the country where he was born as opposed to Canada where he lives as a Canadian citizen because of their suspicions, or do you think the United States was unjustified in deporting him since he is a Canadian citizen and regardless of their suspicions he should have been returned to Canada ?
