8. The Provincial government has complied through legislation just introduced with a request from the City to designate the Toronto Transit Commission (TTC). The operators of Toronto's busses, subways and streetcars an 'essential service'. Despite the fact that there have only been 11 days in the past 20 years lost to labour disputes at the TTC, this will ban any potential strike and instead send contract disputes to arbitration, which TTC management fear will actually be more costly than direct party-to-party negotiations.. Overall, to what extent do you agree or disagree with the TTC being designated an 'essential service'?

9_1. (Quitting the 'Transit City' plan in favour of new subways) One of Mayor Ford's policies has been to scrap 'Transit City', which focused heavily on streetcars and light-rail transit, and instead expand subway routes in parts of the city. Critics of the decision say subways are more expensive to construct and the city would likely be penalized millions of dollars to break current commitments to the Transit City development that is already underway. As part of his subway expansion idea to extend the Sheppard subway west to Downsview station and as far east as the Scarborough Town Centre, Mayor Ford wants to use public-private partnerships and a combination of development charges and tax increment financing, which allows cities to borrow against future property tax revenue from land whose value shoots up after the subway is built. This type of financing has been used in Europe to build transdev or a bad idea?

9.2. (Private-public partnerships and development charges/tax increment financing to fund the subways) One of Mayor Ford's policies has been to scrap 'Transit City', which focused heavily on streetcars and light-rail transit, and instead expand subway routes in parts of the city. Critics of the decision say subways are more expensive to construct and the city would likely be penalized millions of dollars to break current commitments to the Transit City development that is already underway. As part of his subway expansion idea to extend the Sheppard subway west to Downsview station and as far east as the Scarborough Town Centre, Mayor Ford wants to use public-private partnerships and a combination of development charges and tax increment financing, which allows cities to borrow against future property tax revenue from land whose valfollowing is either a good idea or a bad idea?

This type of financing has been used in Europe to build transit systems. Do you think the following is either a good idea or a bad idea?
